Ethics and Baseball Gear

Current Supply chain

- Manufacturing a single baseball takes 108 hand stitched seams, a job that TNC's often outsource to sweatshops in second and third world countries.
- Workers earn as little as 0.24$ an hour for a 14 hour shift.
- Toxic fumes from glues and other adhesives and dyes fills the air because of poor ventilation in the factories.
- TNC's sell balls for as much as 15$ while it takes 0.30$ to manufacture one. They have such low manufacture prices due to the poor wages and conditions given to the employees.
- TruStitch typically has a manufacture cost of 8.45$ and sell the balls for 18.50$. This is because we have to spend much more money on high quality factories and have to pay our workers fairly.

Social Proof

Made with leather taken from Canadian cows that were previously slaughtered, otherwise the hide would be going to waste. Made in 100% Canadian owned and operated factories giving workers fair wages and workers rights. “90% of baseball and softball coaches say they are more likely to pick someone ethically aware for the team.”

Worker Conditions and Salary

Environmental Consciousness

Because we use Leather from already slaughtered Cattle about to go to waste and we reduce the carbon footprint from an average baseball company 10 fold, we are widely considered environmentally conscious.

Perception of Value

The moral value gained from buying baseballs and apparel from trustitch outweighs the dimes saved, we are using purley reused and upcycled materials to manufacture our balls and gear, as well as paying the best wages and the best factory conditions of a baseball company.

Business Pitch

Every Year, millions of baseballs and gloves are produced with zero transparency, often relying on exploitative labor and high-emission supply factories. At TruStitch, we believe the integrity of the game shouldn't stop at the foul lines.

At TruStitch we manufacture premium quality baseballs and gloves using 100% upcycled leather, reclaiming hides from the meat industry that would otherwise be put into landfills. Every single product gets crafted in factories that guarantee fair working conditions and pay at or above the Canadian minimum wage. By combining ethical labor with an aggressive emission-reduction strategy, TruStitch delivers major-league quality while leaving a zero guilt footprint. We aren't just making gear; were rewriting the playbook for ethically sustainable sports.
