

Indigenous water rights

By:Jessa and Zankia

Mission Statement - what's the site about?

The reason we picked Indigenous water rights is that we've noticed that indigenous peoples face environmental racism towards different topics, but one of the most concerning would be WATER to us. After seeing "There's something in the water" we've seen how this can affect health, food, land around where the Indigenous people live. Many couldn't drink clean water, food could be cooked, and many could've gotten sick if they drank this water. The Indigenous people's goal was to promote sustainable water management with advocates and agents. The Global Goal it aligns with "Clean water and Sanitation" because the Indigenous people want clean water and sanitation!

- Jessa (Researcher): Canada's Response & Global Connection.
- Zankia(Storyteller): Human Impact & What Happens If We Do Nothing.
- Both (Tech Lead): Site Layout & Action Project Media

"Page Authored by Jessa"